BROWN'S PARTNER A WITNESS

He Tells of an Odd Marriage Compact

DIVORCE FOR THE WIFE

Then Marriage to Mrs. Bradley Its Condition—Both Women Urged It—But the Senator Balked and Upbraided Mrs. Brown.

Washington, Nov. 22.—The principal witness yesterday at the trial of Anna M. Bradley for the murder of Arthur Brown, former Senator from Utah, was Judge Henry P. Henderson, former law partner of Brown. He was called by the defense and testified to having known Brown at Kalamazoo, Mich., before either of them went to Utah.

Judge Henderson said he knew Martin Montgomery, who was also a Michigan man and a friend of Brown's and for whom Mrs. Bradley's second son, born of Brown, was named at the Senator's request. Judge Henderson was formerly a justice of the supreme court of Utah. At the end of his term on the bench he formed a law partnership with Brown, but terminated it on learning from Mrs. Bradley of Brown's relations with her.

The witness told of being called from his home at 6 o'clock one evening to the law office, where he found Mrs. Brown, the Senator, Mrs. Bradley and the Senator's stenographer. Mrs. Brown told him with some excitement that she had drawn up a paper dictated by Brown in which the latter had agreed to get a divorce from her and marry Mrs. Bradley. Brown had refused to sign it. Mrs. Bradley and Mrs. Brown were urging him to sign it. Brown said:

"I'll sign anything for you, Dottie," addressing Mrs. Bradley, "but I would not do anything she asked me," referring to his wife. "She has been a curse to me."

Brown had refused to allow his wife to speak to Mrs. Bradley, stopping between them; and finally Judge Henderson conducted Mrs. Brown to her home. The witness said he discovered that Brown was deceiving both him and Mrs. Bradley about the matter, telling his partner one story and the defendant another. He told the defendant Brown never would marry her, but she would not believe it. He described her eccentricities and emotions. He identified a

Good Things in Store for 1908

The January number will contain Theodore Roosevelt's account of his bear hunt in the Louisiana Canebrakes

Next year will be a great year—one in which the standard of Scribner's, already unapproached by other periodicals will surely be surpassed. In fiction it will be distinguished by the work of such authors as John Fox, Jr., author of "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," Arthur Cosslett Smith, Thomas Nelson Page, Richard Harding Davis, Jesse Lynch Williams, Katharine Holland Brown, Robert Herrick, Francis Cotton, Nelson Lloyd and James B. Connolly.

From an artistic point of view, Scribner's easily leads all publications in this or any other country. Among artists whose work will embellish its pages during 1908 are Harrison Fisher, Frank Brangwyn, F. C. Yohn, N. C. Wyeth, F. Walter Taylor, W. J. Aylward, André Castaigne, Edward Penfield, James Montgomery Flagg and Alonzo Kimball.

Not only black and white but beautiful color illustrations will appear.

In a word, the one and only way to get the best the year will produce is to get Scribner's.

What better gift can you think of than a year's subscription to Scribner's?

Twenty-five cents a number; Three dollars a year

REFUSED TO WORK.

All Southern Pacific Trainmen Left Their Posts of Duty.

Chicago, Nov. 22.—A despatch to the Record-Herald from Reno, Nev., says: "Train service on the Southern Pacific east of here and all work in the shops was suspended yesterday as a result of the payment of the employees of the company in checks. When the men presented the checks at the banks, payment was refused because the checks were endorsed on the face: 'Payable in funds current at the San Francisco clearing house.'"

Firemen and engineers left their trains and refused to turn a wheel until cash was forthcoming. Last bound trains were tied up, except mail trains. A compromise was finally arranged by which men will receive 10 per cent. of their pay in cash. It is thought they will return to work today.

JUDGE GRAY OPENS HIS HOME TO BRYAN.

Latter May Thus Be Entertained by a Possible Competitor for the Nomination.

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 22.—Unless changes are made in existing arrangements, William J. Bryan, during his stay in Wilmington, Sunday evening, will be the guest of Judge George Gray, his possible competitor for the Democratic nomination.

Mr. Bryan comes to Wilmington under the auspices of the local Young Men's Christian association. Judge Gray is the chairman of the association's advisory committee. Upon learning of the arrangements for bringing Mr. Bryan here, Judge Gray informed the committee that he would be pleased to entertain the lecturer during his stay.

What Does Your Mirror Say?

Does it cheerfully report an abundance of beautiful, well kept hair or does it regretfully tell the story of hair neglect?

Your mirror may be anxious to please, but if you permit your friends to see dull, brittle and lusterless hair, with possibly dandruff and falling hair, your mirror will have to reflect the same condition.

All of these unfortunate effects can be overcome by destroying their cause with

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

The ORIGINAL Remedy that "Kills the Dandruff Germ."

Dandruff, with its consequent hair injury and hair loss, is now known to be a highly contagious germ disease. It is caused by an invisible growth of vegetable character that finds lodgement in the sebaceous glands of the scalp. This growth disturbs the functions of the sebaceous glands, causing excessive oiliness or extreme dryness of the hair. It also sets up an inflammatory process that extends down the follicle to the papilla, where the adhesions are loosened and the hair slips out. The value of Newbro's Herpicide in such cases is quite extraordinary. Its intelligent use will correct every condition short of chronic baldness and thus permit the hair to resume its natural luster and abundance.

MISS EDNA IRVINE

the Senator acknowledged the paternity of Mrs. Bradley's children, Arthur and Martin. On cross-examination District Attorney Baker inquired whether there was any truth in the statement in Mrs. Bradley's testimony that the witness put his head on the table and wept on hearing from her the story of her relations with his partner.

"Yes, it is true," he replied. "You were suffering some emotion yourself, then, Judge?" persisted the district attorney.

"I admit I was greatly shocked."
